PROCEDURAL ORDER NO. 2 [Amended]

10 February 2009

ARBITRAL TRIBUNAL

Professor Juan Fernández-Armesto (President)
Professor Jean-Gabriel Castel
J. Christopher Thomas, Q.C.

CONSIDERING

1. The documentary requests filed by each party on 15 October 2008, numbered GAL 13 and CAN 11, and the objections to the counterparty's documentary requests of 12 January 2009, numbered GAL 15 and CAN 12.
2. That further to these communications, the parties submitted GAL 17 and CAN 16 as short rebuttals, and Canada presented CAN 17 dealing with the additional production of document pertaining to requests nos. 73, 77, 78, 60(n) and 80.
3. That, according to Procedural Order no. 1, the Arbitral Tribunal may, in its discretion, order one disputing party to communicate to the other documents or limited categories of documents. In the exercise of its discretion, the Arbitral Tribunal will have regard to the specificity of the request, the relevance of the requested documents, the fact that they are in the possession, power or control of the disputing party, any applicable privileges, and all surrounding circumstances.

The Arbitral Tribunal issues this

PROCEDURAL ORDER NO. 2

This Procedural Order rules on the documentary requests (I) clarifying preliminary issues raised by the parties and (II) deciding on each of the disputed documentary requests.

I. Preliminary Issues

1. Each party has claimed that (a) the documents so far produced by the other party are, to a large extent, unorganised; (b) privilege has been asserted over an unspecified number of documents; (c) some of the requested documents are not in its possession, but rather in the possession of third parties; and (d) there is a possibility of late production.

The Arbitral Tribunal will provide guidance on each of these claims and allegations.

(a) Unorganised document production

2. Basically, Claimant argues that Canada presented its documents in a disorganised manner, without separate tabs or table of contents whilst Canada alleges that it is Claimant who has produced numerous documents which are neither described nor organised in any particular manner.
3. The Tribunal considers that, to be useful to the parties, documents have to be appropriately organised. Depending on the circumstances, different systems of organisation may be appropriate. The Arbitral Tribunal requests both parties to cooperate in good faith and to jointly solve their respective difficulties and to jointly report on the outcome. The Tribunal hopes that both parties will be able to resolve the issue without further guidance from the Tribunal.

(b) Privilege

4. The parties have claimed that an unspecified number of documents are client/attorney privileged and/or are of special political and institutional sensitivity. Regarding privileged documents, Claimant has offered to exchange comprehensive privilege logs and Canada is willing to produce an amended Redfern Schedule that identifies the privilege claimed where such information was omitted, provided that Claimant also identifies each privilege claimed and corrects the other deficiencies in its response to Canada's Redfern Schedule.
5. The Arbitral Tribunal takes note of the parties' positions and requests both parties to prepare a log for all documents in respect of which they claim client/attorney privilege and/or special political and institutional sensitivity. The Arbitral Tribunal asks both parties to confer before 23 February 2009 and to reach an agreement regarding the structure and preparation of such log.
6. Such log shall be prepared by each party and delivered to the other party no later than 4.00 pm 3 March 2009, and each party shall then have until no later than 4.00 pm 6 March 2009 to set out its observations in writing as to the other's claims which it contests. The party claiming privilege shall then be free to make a short observation in reply, to be filed no later than 4.00 pm 10 March 2009. At that point, the Tribunal shall decide on any claims of privilege which remain contested.

(c) Third parties

7. Each party has objected to the production of certain documents arguing that such documents are not in its possession, but in that of third parties and, thus, the party claims to be unable to compel such third parties to produce the requested documents. In particular, this objection has been raised by Canada as regards municipalities and certain individuals and by Claimant as regards 919841 Ontario Inc. and the Limited Partnership for the purposes of this arbitration.
8. The Arbitral Tribunal considers that, in this respect, in addition to entities which may be controlled by a party, there may be entities or persons with whom a party has a relationship which is relevant for the purposes of this arbitral processing. The duty of production extends to the entities controlled by each party. Furthermore, good faith also imposes a duty of best efforts to obtain documents that are in the possession of entities or persons with whom or with which the party the subject of the request has a relevant relationship.
9. The Tribunal will not decide at this point within which category each of the disputed third parties falls. The Tribunal simply takes note of Canada's offer to use its best efforts and write to certain municipalities to request that they voluntarily produce certain documents in this arbitration. The Arbitral Tribunal expects Claimant to carry out the same offer in relation to the documents in the possession of 919841 Ontario Inc., the alleged successor of the limited partners, and the Limited Partnership.

10. If the above instructions fail to resolve any current disagreements, either party may apply to the Arbitral Tribunal for further direction.

(d) Late production

11. Canada has referred to the possibility of needing an extension of time to provide certain documents in the possession of third parties, which might, in any case, be privileged.

12. The Arbitral Tribunal understands that given the complexity of some of the requests, some flexibility may be necessary. Both parties are requested to cooperate in good faith in order to adapt the schedule of the arbitration and to jointly report on the outcome. The Tribunal hopes that both parties will be able to solve the issue without further guidance from the Tribunal.

II. Requested documents

13. The Arbitral Tribunal will (a) first analyse the 21 document categories requested by Claimant to which Canada has objected; and (b) then analyse the 18 document categories requested by Canada to which Claimant has objected.

(a) Claimant's requests¹

- No. 20: Rail Cycle North's response to the request for proposal in 1999/2000

The Arbitral Tribunal is of the opinion that only the final pricing agreements and subsequent addenda and modifications are relevant.

Canada is required to contact the City of Toronto in order to obtain the requested relevant documents. See I.(c) above.

- No. 27: Documents constituting waste management plan

The Arbitral Tribunal is of the opinion that the requested documents are only relevant if related to municipalities referred to by Claimant as the "GTA municipalities".

¹ The requests have been summarised; each decision covers the full original request

- No. 30: Specific documents relating to the purchase of the Green Lane Landfill site in 2007
 - (i) The Arbitral Tribunal understands that only the final agreement of purchase and sale is relevant. Canada is ordered to produce this final agreement, if it is in its possession or to contact the appropriate alleged third parties in order to obtain it, as provided for in I.(c) above.
 - (ii) The Arbitral Tribunal takes note that, according to Canada, all responsive documents concerning the valuation of the site by the City of Toronto have been produced.
 - (iii) (1) The Arbitral Tribunal takes note that, according to Canada, no negotiations took place with the Ministry of Environment leading to the expansion of the airspace; (2) The Arbitral Tribunal takes note that, according to Canada, any Ministry of Environment analysis or evaluation of the expansion of Green Lane in its possession has been produced.

The Arbitral Tribunal takes note that, according to Canada, no more documents exist, apart from those already produced.

- No. 40: Documents concerning the use of hydraulic containment method for landfills located in low permeability bedrock

The Arbitral Tribunal takes note that, according to Canada, there are no such documents in its possession.

- No. 46: Documents from 1 January 1996 to September 2002 relating to the acquisition of the Borderlands by the Enterprise or its predecessor in title

The Arbitral Tribunal is of the opinion that this request lacks relevance for the adjudication of the case.

- No. 52: Documents in which advice was provided to the District Office of the Ministry of Natural Resources regarding the legal obligation to consult with aboriginal people

The Arbitral Tribunal takes note that Canada invokes solicitor-client privilege. In accordance with I.(b) above, Canada shall itemise these documents in its privilege log.

- Nos. 54 and 55: Documents relating to the preparation of a plan to consult local aboriginal communities and documents referring to the estimation of the duration of such consultations

- No. 60: Documents concerning the Project and/or the Permit to Take Water

c), g), l), m) and o): The Arbitral Tribunal does not think that documents from Mr. Rabbior, Mr. Dhalla, the Ministry, Mr. Campbell or Mr. Reitzel are relevant.

- No. 68: Documents received or sent to Notre/Enterprise/Gartner Lee/Golder Associates concerning the Project from October 2003 to 5 April 2004

The Arbitral Tribunal considers that the production of these documents would be extremely burdensome for Canada and that the documents, in any case, lack relevance.

- No. 72: Documents referring to the Howard report, technical review committee or the status of the Permit made available to any involved in the drafting of the Act

The Arbitral Tribunal takes note that, according to Canada, it has produced all non-privileged documents. In accordance with I.(b) above, Canada shall itemise these documents in its privilege log.

The Arbitral Tribunal takes note that Canada claims to have produced all non-privileged documents and/or invokes solicitor-client privilege. In accordance with I.(b) above, Canada shall itemise these documents in its privilege log

(b) Canada's requests²

- No. 18: Documents signed by the Claimant concerning the Enterprise, the Limited Partnership or 919841 Ontario Inc.

The Arbitral Tribunal is of the opinion that Canada has not shown the involvement of Nick and Roseanne Cortelluci, Tony Nalli and Simmy Shnier in relation to matters raised in this arbitration. None of the foregoing persons has been mentioned in the Statement of Defence. The request with regard to these persons is accordingly rejected.

Martyn Murdoch and Gordon Acton have acted as counsel and for this reason the request with regard to them is also rejected.

The Arbitral Tribunal accepts the request as regards the rest of the listed persons, including any corporation or other entity with which each individual is associated.

As regards the scope of the production, the Arbitral Tribunal narrows down the documents to be produced to those which affect or relate to Mr. Gallo's claimed ownership and control of the Enterprise.
