And there was a concern expressed that that would sooner or later happen in Australia.</li> <li>Q. Alright. But none of those documents are records in any way of what you discussed with Mr Martino. So your recollection or your account of your conversation with Mr Martino is based on your memory of this meeting that occurred five years before you signed this witness statement?</li> <li>A. It's my recollection. I think I can say that they were devastating figures that I do remember, and real concerns to us, because of the nature of the over $100 million that the group had invested in coal.</li> <li>Q. Now, your statement goes on, from 129, to talk about a series of further meetings with Mr Martino.</li> <li>A. Mm-hm.</li> <li>Q. So you say that as you've said a few times already this morning you made the decision in June 2018. Paragraph 131, for example, it relates to a meeting I had with Mr Martino in respect of an appeal which had been lodged against our royalty judgment the year before in the Western Australia Supreme Court. And that was a very significant matter for us: it was one that required me to meet with him to discuss it. And in that meeting, we discussed other things in respect of Singapore and how that could be restructured.</li> <li>Q. In your fifth statement, Mr Palmer I won't show it to you unless you need me to you referred to the restructure as the "Martino restructure". So would you agree that his advice was important to your decision to restructure the group?</li> <li>A. I think when I got I decided to restructure in 2018, I had to determine what the structure would be, if you understand what I mean. There's a decision to say: we'll go to Singapore. How will we go to Singapore? What should the structure be? So I personally favoured at that time incorporating a company directly owned by me. And Mr Martino, over the period of time and as events changed, gave advice that we should have the three-tiered structure. At that</li> </ul>

And if we go down a little, to the second page near the bottom, you can see there's a reference there to RDI being "granted approval for listing of RDI's shares on the [Hong Kong Stock Exchange]"?</li> <li>A. Yes. So with respect, if you look at "Below is the full announcement", you'll see that RDI is Resource Development International. That's the real name of the company. So that's why I didn't realise sorry.</li> <li>Q. No, I apologise for putting the abbreviation to you. But it's said that RDI was going to launch a \$5 billion initial public offering on the Hong Kong Stock Exchange later this year?</li> <li>A. Yes.</li> <li>Q. And then on the second page, it says RDI was: " recently formed to acquire iron ore, nickel, exploration and energy interests, including</li> </ul>	$ \begin{array}{c} 2\\3\\4\\5\\6\\7\\8\\9\\10\\11\\12\\13\\14\\15\\16\\17\\18\\19\\20\\21\\22\\23\\24\end{array} $	<ul> <li>Q. Just to be clear, Resource Development International was your company, wasn't it?</li> <li>A. I think the shell may have been owned by Mineralogy at that time, but it was being listed as an IPO in Hong Kong.</li> <li>Q. Yes.</li> <li>A. So other people who were looking after the company's position, specifically in the context of saying, "Mr Palmer wants to do this restructure; let's make sure it's not going to hurt the company's position"? Is that what you're saying?</li> <li>A. Well, you showed me earlier a letter from Graham Sorensen, for example. And he had all the</li> </ul>	$ \begin{array}{c} 2\\3\\4\\5\\6\\7\\8\\9\\10\\11\\12\\13\\14\\15\\16\\17\\18\\19\\20\\21\\22\\23\end{array} $	<ul> <li>their locally incorporated entities own investments abroad</li> <li>"iii. would enliven Australian tax rules triggered when Australian entities are owned from abroad (in this case, Singapore and New Zealand), and</li> <li>"c. bringing the income back into Australia creates a third layer of income tax problems</li> <li>"None of these potential problems would have arisen if the Australian-sourced income of the Mineralogy corporate group had not been routed through two foreign-incorporated companies before being brought back to Australia."</li> <li>You'd agree, wouldn't you, that those are issues that need to be seriously looked at?</li> <li>A. Well, none of that's happened. We have done the restructure, and none of these hypothetical things which this fellow is on about has happened. I mean, surely the Tax Department in Australia would action some of these things if they were real. I mean, they know there's a little group in the Tax Department that just looks at our stuff full time. They haven't started any actions.</li> </ul>

So acquiring a property in an industrial park in Christchurch for $11 million, are you suggesting that that provided meaningful diversification of the Mineralogy Group?</li> <li>A. Yes, well, it did for me personally, because I own that company that bought it, right? And, you know, subsequently there's the restructure and then Mineralogy is in there.</li> <li>So it is also a diversification of jurisdiction.</li> <li>I wasn't a very popular person to some people in Australia at that time, and who knows what the Government can do? 12:39 1	or not is an argument that existed as a matter of	12:41 1	first McHugh, the second McHugh award and the pending
2	dispute between you and Mineralogy and the State	2	arbitration, and it interfered with all of them?
3	A. That's correct.	3	A. Yes. Well, we also would say it terminated the
4	Q during the period at least from August through to	4	arbitration agreement, which was entered into about
5	October?	5	three weeks before the Act.
6	A. That's correct, yes.	6	Q. Yes, lending to yes.
7	Q. Then in October 2019, Mr McHugh gave the award. I don't	7	A. Okay.
8	think I need to show it to you. It's Exhibit C-443.	8	Q. Now, as you explained yesterday, your argument is that
9	A. Yes.	9	it wasn't foreseeable that the State would interfere
10	Q. And it held that you were entitled to seek damages?	10	with the effects of the State Agreement. That's
11	A. That's correct, yes.	11	something that you said on a number of occasions
12	Q. Can I now show you just one of the provisions of the	12	yesterday; is that right?
13	Amendment Act, which is Exhibit C-1. If we could bring	13	A. That's true, yes.
14	up E1/1/23.	14	Q. Can I show you now Exhibit R-145, which is E2/145/1.
15	So this is Section 10 of the Amendment Act, and can	15	This, you can see, is a letter take it from me; I'll
16	I invite your attention first to subsection (1):	16	get to the second page soon but it's signed by you.

20	So that's the one that was on foot that you	20	Q. So this is four days after the second McHugh award; do
21	referred to?	21	you agree with that?
22	A. No, no, that's not the that's not the second	22	A. Yes.
23	arbitration.	23	Q. And you'll see the subject line: "Re: Award delivered by
24	Q. No, no, that's the arbitration that was actually	24	the Hon. Michael McHugh AC QC on Friday 11th October".
25	A. The arbitration agreement is terminated, yes.	25	A. That's right, yes.

If we look at the whole timeline of everything, you'll notice that we were negotiating with the State to enter into the arbitration agreement and the mediation agreement. And I must say, the State Solicitor and their office had been very active and very proper in those negotiations, and it wasn't until three weeks before we signed the sorry, I think it was about three weeks before the Amendment Act that we signed the arbitration agreement. Then we signed an agreement for mediation with the Chief former Chief Justice of Western Australia to mediate these things. And we think that must have been done in good faith.</li> </ul>

Do you have any basis to dispute that evidence? A. I think it's misleading. I don't think they are audited accounts. The $795,000, as I understand it, was when their business was taken over: debt was forgiven, which came out of that year's revenue. That's all I can remember. So in that instance, that would be the debt was forgiven. You can see "Debt [forgiveness to] ex-director" of 795,604. 10	paid for it. We'd probably pick up about	10
11	$11.5/12 million profit if we sold it.	11
12	Q. You've given evidence about your 40 years of business	12
13	experience. Did any of that include property?	13	0
14	A. Yes, I originally started out in real estate back in	14
15	1972, and that led to specialist consultancy work. And	15
16	I went on from there to develop my own properties, large	16
17	tracts of land for subdivision, together with home	17

19	there, I went into mining.	19	I'm sorry, it's page 176 of that document.
20	Q. You were asked	20	DR KIRK: I think the document is at B/4, if that helps.
21	A. Sorry, mining and some other things.	21	MR BYRNE: Sorry, paragraph 383, please. Thank you.
22	Q. Thank you.	22	Mr Palmer, at approximately 12.57 pm in the
23	You were asked about the award obtained in	23	transcript (page 155), you were taken to this
24	October 2019 and you mentioned that you thought the	24	paragraph
25	State had filed an appeal.	25	A. Mm-hm.

Are there other such connecting factors? And conversely, are there disconnecting factors, if I can call them like that: that means elements that show a disconnection between the two streams? That was the second question. Now, the third question is again an assumption, and that is an assumption in three parts, followed by	$\begin{array}{c} 2\\ 3\\ 4\\ 5\\ 6\\ 7\\ 8\\ 9\\ 10\\ 11\\ 12\\ 13\\ 14\\ 15\\ 16\\ 17\\ 18\\ 19\\ 20\\ 21\\ 22\\ 23\\ 24\\ \end{array}$	a position of seeking to abuse the possibility of not being denied benefits. I hope that's clear. The fifth question is the following. You may remember that in October 2023, the Tribunal raised the question of Article 27(2) of the treaty, which is the article about joint interpretations by contracting states. It says specifically I'm just quoting the first sentence: "The tribunal shall, on its own account or at the request of a disputing party, request a joint interpretation of any provision of this Agreement that is in issue in a dispute." And then it goes on about how to do it. Both parties answered then that, in their current understanding of the issues in dispute, they did not propose to seek a joint interpretation. And the Tribunal then concluded by saying that it reserved its decision on the necessity of a joint interpretation until it would be more fully briefed on the issues. The question to the parties now is: what is your present position on this issue? And we of course still reserve the decision. These are all the questions.

We had said that the closing should not be over two hours, and if you both agree with that, then we could stay with this rule. Obviously the Respondent may have a little less left by now. But it would help the Tribunal to have your views without your being restricted tomorrow in what presentations you wish to make on both sides. Yes, Mr Palmer.</li> <li>MR PALMER: May I suggest that both sides be given two hours, rather than restrict the Respondent, even if the Respondent's time is down a bit.</li> <li>THE PRESIDENT: Yes, that's appreciated. I think that isMR PALMER: I think that's a fair way to approach it.
